Extreme MAKEOVER HOME EDITION PHILIPPINES

changes the life of a street sweeper in Pampanga

Extreme Makeover: Home Edition Philippines finally premiered for the first time in Asia with its touching and inspiring pilot episode on TV5 yesterday, April 15. Based on the original Endemol International franchise, the Philippine edition follows the hit US version's goal of changing lives one home at a time.

With the promise of "Bagong Bahay, Bagong Buhay," the show gives new homes and brings new hope to deserving Filipino families and communities whose life stories are bound to touch viewers' hearts.

For its pilot episode, host Paolo Bediones with the Design Team's Tessa Prieto-Valdez, Divina Leo, Tristan Jonathan, Marien Faustino-Montenegro, and Jody Belmonte visited Apung Norma and the Austria family in their home in Mabalacat, Pampanga to give them the biggest surprise of their lives.

The Austria family is known for their mother "Apung Norma" who seeks help for the poor and sick children by coordinating with an NGO welfare service for help. She still works as a street sweeper even at her 60s to augment her family's income. She lost her husband and three children due to illness, which led her to dedicate her life to helping sick and poor kids.

As was seen in the first full episode of Extreme Makeover: Home Edition Philippines yesterday, the Austria family was awarded a new home and a new life with the help of the program's generous sponsors: Jao Builders for the home construction, Dimensione and San Yang for the furniture, [illegible] for the appliances, and Sundance United Sales, The Medical City, Pampanga's Best, and AMA Educational System Inc. for the livelihood that will greatly help Apung Norma's family in building a brighter future for them.

The introduction to the family and some snippets of the progress of the home makeover were already presented in Extreme Makeover's "The Road to the Makeover", a daily 10-minute mini-program shown right after Face to Face.

Extreme Makeover: Home Edition Philippines airs every Sunday at 8:30PM. You can also catch The Road to the Makeover daily at 11:30AM also on TV5.
